Jointly organised by:

- Belgian Vacuum Society (BELVAC)
- British Vacuum Council (BVC)
- Croatian Vacuum Society (HVD)
- Czech Vacuum Society (CVS)
- French Vacuum Society (SFV)
- Hungarian Vacuum Society (HVS)
- Portuguese Vacuum Society (SOPORVAC)
- Slovak Vacuum Society (SVS)
- Slovenian Vacuum Society (DVTS)

General Symposia

- Advanced Surface Engineering
- Applied Surface Science
- Biological Interface Science
- Electronic Materials
- Nanometer Science and Engineering
- Plasma Science and Technology
- Surface Science
- Thin Films and Coatings
- Vacuum Science

Special Symposia

- Astronomical Frontiers for Surface Science (AstroSurf 2013)
- Energy and Sustainable Development
- Frontiers of Nanomaterials and Nanomachines
- Hybrid Materials
- Cultural Heritage
- Microspectroscopy: Lateral and Energy Resolution
- Rare Earth Metals
- Smart surfaces: From Fundamentals to the Market
- Surface Science at High Pressure
- Surface Science of Ionic Liquids
- Vacuum Technology in the Food and Packaging Industries

IVC-19 / ICN+T 2013 and partner conferences will be the premier global forum in 2013 for researchers active in the science and engineering of materials, surfaces, thin films and coatings for diverse applications and environments at scales from the nano to the macro.

Confirmed plenary lecturers include Dan Shechtman (Technion, Israel; 2011 Nobel Laureate in Chemistry), Shoucheng Zhang (Stanford, USA; 2010 Europhysics Prizewinner) and Bertrand Piccard/André Borschberg of the renowned Solar Impulse aircraft project.

They will be supported by a programme of over 100 invited speakers headlining the conference technical sessions. Poster sessions, a large technical exhibition and a competitively priced short course programme rounds out this major opportunity in the global scientific calendar for 2013.

On behalf of the organizers, it is a pleasure to invite you to Paris, “la ville lumière”, for September 9-13, 2013.
